Some of the most common values in a barcode.

The maximum width in a barcode is 2048 for GS1-128 and 2336 for GS1-128B. Depending on the size of your label, you will have to select a specific scale value from the drop down menu. You can choose between 100%, 200%, 300% or 400%. A400 is designed to print large labels precisely and evenly on all available label sizes. The higher the scale value the larger your label will be. If you do not know which option to choose, use 300%. In some countries, both stamping and printing are allowed on the same label. In those cases, you can choose between printing and stamping as your label type. A barcode can be printed as well as stamped by using the stamping feature. The software offers a stamping tool to make the process simpler and easy to use. This program supports a lot of different modes for printing your label. You can choose a mode representing a universally accepted standard format for anything from a small package to a large pallet with multiple packages per pallet.

The options in this menu will allow you to transfer your image from Photoshop into Aurora 3D Barcode Generator or from Aurora 3D Barcode Generator into Photoshop. The process is very straightforward and easy to use, but it requires some technical skills on your side.
